

Scenario

In this scenario, you're investigating a recent security incident.

You need to gather information about login attempts for certain dates and times.

This will help in resolving a security incident.

Here's how you'll do this task: First, you'll retrieve login events made after a certain date. Second, you'll narrow the focus of the search to filter logins in a date range. Third, you'll investigate logins that were made at certain times. Finally, you'll filter login attempts based on their event IDs.